description: Property insurance provides financial protection against unexpected damage or loss to residential or commercial property. It can cover the building, structures, and selected belongings against risks such as fire, theft, natural disasters, storms, water damage, and other covered incidents. The policy helps property owners reduce the financial burden of repairing or replacing damaged property.

A property insurance policy generally requires the policyholder to provide details about the property, including its location, type, construction, age, value, usage, and the nature of any damage or incident. Based on these details, the insurer evaluates the risk and determines the appropriate coverage, premium, and claim requirements.

In the event of an insured incident, the policyholder can submit a claim along with relevant information and supporting documents. The insurance company reviews the claim, assesses the damage, verifies the policy coverage, and, if approved, provides compensation according to the terms and limits of the policy. This helps property owners recover more quickly and protect themselves from significant financial losses.
